NEW DIRECTIONS

During the thirty years of its history Horace Mann has changed, progressed, matured, but never before have these changes come so rapidly or been so significant. Horace Mann is now a Junior-Senior High School with new courses, many new teachers and even new regulations.

This book is a record of our school in 1959-1960, of the new directions in which we are going as we enter a new decade.

In Memoriam

Irene Jennings

Pupils who came to know Miss Jennings discovered that underneath her quiet demeanor she had a delightful sense of humor. She was sincerely interested in her students. To some her high academic standards and demanding exactness seemed unnecessarily strict, but many of her pupils now look back with gratitude on the year spent with her.

The members of the Girls' Club realize how much Miss Jennings will be missed. She helped organize the club and had served as sponsor ever since. Under her leadership the girls on the board and council learned to assume responsibility, but were also left free to try out new activities and projects. Therefore although the main purpose of the club never changed, its activities varied from year to year.

Miss Jennings served her school and her students with a great devotion which we all appreciate.

During years spent in working as attendance officer, Miss Williams came to know well most pupils and parents in the Horace Mann district. To many she was merely a giver of blue slips or someone to see if one had to leave school during the day. To others she was the one who helped you if you were in trouble, or had to go to court, or needed to quit school to earn money. She was a link between the school and the home. From her house visits she often brought back information which enabled teachers to understand better the problems of many children. She watched pupils grow from shy six-year-olds to sedate seniors and knew more about them than they ever suspected.

She worked faithfully to further the best interests of Horace Mann and its students.

Senior Class Officers

The year 1942 ushered in some of the most important people of the decade—the class of 1960. While many of the present generation of students were bouncing bundles of joy, World War II was destined to change the course of history. The United States had entered the conflict in 1941. Thus, these children were born into an uncertain world.

Eighteen years ago:

Jets were first tested in the United States

V-Mail was issued on June 22

The WAC was formed

Ration books were issued with coupons for coffee, gas, and sugar.

Many of our fathers and uncles rallied to General MacArthur's inspired battle cry, "I shall return."

The motion picture industry was influenced by the war, and

"Mrs. Miniver" was the outstanding film of the year.

Ernie Pyle's Here is Your War was the book to read.

Bob Hope, Jack Benny, and Bing Crosby ruled the kingdom of radio.

"White Christmas" was the favorite song of the year.

A new star in the Hollywood sky was Dinah Shore.

1960

They again find themselves in an election year. No longer are they bouncing babes, but citizens that in a few years will cast their first votes. They read in the daily newspaper of scientific accomplishments that would have been inconceivable to an earlier generation. Truly they live in an age of science fiction compared to the world that existed only a few short years ago—at the time of their birth.

Robert Sanderson—Treasurer

Junior Class Officers

Most of the present juniors first saw the light of day during the turbulent year of 1943. Hope for an allied victory burned brighter with the end of the war in the African Theater.

Seventeen years ago:

The Bronze Star was established.

Shoes were rationed at three pair per year.

"Comin' in on a Wing and a Prayer" was the first big song hit of the war.

General Eisenhower was appointed to lead the invasion of Europe.

Guy Lombardo and Harry James were the top bands, and everyone that wasn't reading the book Dragon Teeth was at the show watching the film hit of the year—"Casablanca."

The New York Yankees won the World Series.

Chicago opened its first subway.

The year 1960 finds the juniors finally at the pinnacle of their high school careers. They look forward to their senior year with enthusiasm born of long patience—eleven years of patience to be exact. They will lead the grand march at the next prom, and they will be giving the pre-prom parties instead of going to them. It seems ages since the days of the "green freshman," and, in a way, it is.

Andrea Shimko—Treasurer

Davis Blaine—Vice-President

Sophomore Class Officers

The election year of 1944 marked the birthdate of most of our sophomores. This year proved to be the turning point of the war. The people of the United States showed their faith in the New Deal by re-electing Franklin Delano Roosevelt to the presidency.

Sixteen years ago:

June 6th was D-Day at Normandy

December 10-26 was the never-to-be-forgotten date of the Battle of the Bulge

"Kismet" was the movie hit

Dinah Shore was the favorite female singer

The Americans established their beachhead at Anzio in Italy
Rodgers and Hammerstein won the Pulitzer Prize for "Oklahoma"

Rome fell to the American Fifth Army

Underclassmen is now a word of the past. It will never again (oops, forgot about college) be applied to the students that have finally attained the rank of junior. Geometric theories and propositions have stimulated their minds, and taught them the art of abstract thinking. They are now fully prepared for the challenge offered them by the complexities of the junior year.

Doug Bash—President

Priscilla Kopulos—Treasurer

Tim Brown—President

Laraine Daugherty—Treasurer

Eileen Kostron—Secretary

Jim Hales—Vice-President

1945

Freshman Class Officers

A brighter year was destined for the birth of this year's freshmen. Victory in Europe and Victory in Japan came in 1945. The bombing of Hiroshima ushered in the Atomic Age.

Fifteen years ago:—

President Franklin D. Roosevelt died, and Vice-President Truman assumed the presidency.

The first A-Bomb was tested at Alamogordo, New Mexico.

The United Nations was formed at San Francisco.

The new words frogmen and turbojet came into daily use.

There was a total eclipse of the moon.

John Hersey won the Pulitzer Prize for his novel A Bell Adano.

It is always hard to decide which class of students is the happiest at the end of a school year. Probably the freshmen come closest to the top of the list. Now they are upper classmen and there exists a group of students who look up to them. A sophomore girl can have a little sister; it's certainly good to be able to advise someone on the basis of her own past experience. A sophomore is always a wonderful composition of senior-type worldiness and freshman-type naivete.

September marked the beginning not only of school for HM students but also of a busy year for Student Council. The installation of the membership was held in the auditorium with Father Fusco speaking on "Ideas Today—Reality Tomorrow." This ceremony was followed in the evening by a dinner for council members and their parents.

In October, twenty council members participated in the State Student Council Convention at Indianapolis. Kathy Durkott led a discussion, Jo Ann Ashbaugh acted as a recorder, and Mrs. Catherine Roper was an adviser. In addition to gaining many valuable ideas, particularly on what to do about lagging interest among students and faculty, the council members received permission to have next year's state convention at Horace Mann. Nearly a thousand students and advisors from all sections of Indiana will come to Gary for the gathering. Since the convention meets early next fall, most of the planning has had to be done during this year, and special committees have worked diligently to perfect arrangements.

In November, the Code-of-Ethics committee, headed by Frumeth Hirsh, planned an assembly to acquaint the student body with the code. Reverend Brown of the First Presbyterian Church was the speaker. Also during the month, members started making arrangements for the Holiday Ball, which was held on January 1.

The Student Council joined in the Christmas spirit by sponsoring a clothing drive and a food basket, and by making little red boots filled with pine sprigs as gifts for the faculty.

During March and April, the annual SOS drive was held to raise money for the United Fund. Two dances, a bake sale and a fun festival netted over $300.

The next major activity on the Council agenda was the banquet at Phil Schmidt's on April 25. This busy season was concluded with the Recognition Day Assembly on May 27 when outstanding seniors were recognized for the contributions they had made to Horace Mann during the past four years.

Although these activities probably stand out most in the minds of the students a number of other projects were included in this year's calendar.

One of this year's innovations was the Student Directory listing the name, address and telephone number of each high school student. Many long hours of toil and research made this project a success.

A new policy in regard to the election of various kings, queens, and officers was initiated by the legislative committee under the leadership of Katy Durkott. Instead of interrupting classes to vote as has been done previously, those wishing to cast their ballots were requested to come to a voting room during the lunch hours before or after school.

Another function of the student council which has grown in importance during the past year was the informing of both parents and students of the activities and regulations of the school. In the fall, a tea was held for the new students in Horace Mann, and "Horace Mannerisms"—a pamphlet describing the school and its organizations—was distributed. Later the senior members helped acquaint next year's Freshmen to high school life. During Education week the Council conducted parents through the school and on April 28 they guided the representatives of the Secondary School Parents' Council through Horace Mann classrooms.

The Student Council of 1959-1960 was unusually successful in fulfilling its aims: better student-faculty relations, the promotion of school spirit, the acceptance by the student body of the code of Ethics and the adjustment to the many changes which came to the school during the year.

NEW DIRECTIONS

New directions are constantly opened to a Horace Mann student through the many clubs and organizations in which he can participate. Some clubs are an extension of classroom activities and others are extracurricular organizations in which he can follow a particular interest; but, all help one to broaden his understanding, to develop his personality, and to form new friendships. Through a variety of extracurricular activities, a student can broaden his outlook and learn of areas of endeavor about which he may never have the opportunity to learn outside of school.

Boys and Girls Club Council

The Boys' and Girls' Councils, Mann's newest elected student groups, were formed to establish, coordinate, and maintain the social-service clubs of the school. The activity of the councils, which are subordinate to the student council, was limited this year to the writing of a constitution, to determining the standards for the clubs, and to helping prospective groups be set up. The clubs to be established under its jurisdiction will have two separate but related 9-10 and 11-12 grade subdivisions. The constitution, ritual, and calendar of each club must be approved by the councils.

Through the activities of the group, Mann students will be able to mature socially and to be of service to their school and their community.

Fencing Club

"On guard!" "Touche," a clank of metal is heard. Two sinister-looking figures are fighting gracefully with slender sharp swords. No, this isn't the filming of a Zorro movie. This is a meeting of one of Horace Mann's newest organizations, the Fencing Club. As this new decade begins, HM students have revived a medieval sport.

"The Guard," formed in September 1959, by Mr. Friel, now includes fifteen members, standing ready to defend the honor of the Horsemen. Because these are the only fencing students in the Gary schools, the group has had to travel to Notre Dame and the University of Chicago for information and instruction. Next year "The Guard" plans to compete with some of the Illinois schools which have organized fencing groups.

Although the club has not been able to compete on an interscholastic level this year, the members did compete with each other in an intramural tournament. The victors of this contest were Tom Eskilson in the sabre division; George Papantonopolus, foil; and Charles Bilbruck, epee.

With the coming of the Fencing Club to HM there are certain things which students should remember: don't write any more Zorro signs on the walls, and don't challenge your friends to a duel. They might accept.

BOY'S COUNCIL

Michael Katz, recording secretary; John Goldberg, president; Anthony Lazar, secretary of club affairs, Kelly Harrington, secretary of records.

Co-operative Business Education Club

Something old, something new . . .

Horace Mann has always had students who held part-time jobs, but this year, for the first time, these work opportunities are connected with the school curriculum. The Co-operative Business Education Club is composed of students who are employed during part of the day and attend classes at school also. Their specially co-ordinated program allows them to remain under school supervision while they work in banks, stores, and offices in Gary.

On May 17, the employers of the students were honored at a banquet given jointly by the Co-operative Business Education Club of Horace Mann and the Distributive and Industrial Relations Clubs of other city schools.

The 1959-60 season saw the advent of a new sport at Horace Mann—wrestling. Under the guidance of a relative newcomer to the HM sports scene, Nick Sweigart, the team worked hard the first semester to develop sufficiently to enter competitive meets.

January 20, 1960, the wrestling team opened its season with a match at Hammond Morton. After losing this match, the team participated in a city wrestling tournament in which it placed fourth.

Although defeated in two subsequent meets with Roosevelt and Tolleston, the co-captains, Art LaFleur and Jim O'Shana, feel the prospects for next year are good since the team will lose only two seniors.

Intramural wrestling meets supplemented the meets held between schools. In the intramural tournament, which ended the season, the winners were: Ricky Replin, Jim Hosler, Cliff Fleming, Spencer Gray, Al Plisousky, Alan Swenson, Ray Malayter, Jim O'Shana, Jim Malayter, Wayne Redman, Jim Hales, and Art LaFleur.

With a year's experience behind it, wrestling should become a very popular sport at Horace Mann in future years.

Spanish—French Clubs

Bonjour, mademoiselle.

Buenos dias, muchacho.

Don't be surprised! It isn't uncommon at a meeting of the united Spanish and French Clubs to hear a remark made in French and answered in Spanish—with, perhaps, a few English adjectives added for good measure.

A potluck supper with an international flavor started the year's activities. The meal began with American meatloaf, and ended with the traditional ice-cream, but tortillas, French bread, and Mexican corn added touches of Latin American and continental cuisine.

Members of the clubs became so fascinated by the intricate leather articles turned out by South American artisans that they decided to take up leather tooling as a club project. The father of a member (Mr. Smith) taught the students the fundamentals of tooling, and advised the club on the tools to comprise a basic tooling kit. Such professional-looking articles as key cases, book marks, billfolds, and wall plaques have been turned out by the members. Movies on the subject of leather stamping and leather tooling have been viewed.

Every year, members of Spanish Club have anticipated the Pinata party. Some lucky muchacho takes a pole in hand, and, blindfolded, swings it in the general direction of the pinata. As the pinata breaks, girls and boys scramble for the scattered goodies, which shower down upon them.

Something to look forward to is the annual-signing party sponsored by the Spanish and French Clubs. This party takes place at the end of the school year and its purpose is to provide a time and place for students to autograph annuals.

This unique type of party was first given by the Spanish and French Clubs in 1959, and the idea has appealed to the entire student body; it is on the way to becoming a tradition at Horace Mann.

Although die activities of die Deutsche Cluben waren limited, die Organization succeeded in expanding die horizons of die German Studenten by bringing about ein besser Understanding of die German Culture.

S. P. Q. R.

The Latin Club, being one of the oldest organizations in the school, continued to disseminate a knowledge of ancient Rome and the Roman culture to the students of that ancient, noble, and dead language. For the purpose of attaining these ends, the group participated in the city-wide Latin Conference at Roosevelt High School, where the first year students, dressing themselves like the gods and goddesses of ancient Rome placing zinc oxide on their faces, and, powdering their hair, presented a skit entitled "A Visit to the Museum—the Gods and Goddesses of the Romans." Much interest in mythology having been evidenced, slides were shown on that topic, and a lecture on the importance of Rome in history was given.

To obtain further knowledge of the Latin culture, fifty students attended the state Junior Classical League Conference at Indiana State Teachers' College in Terre Haute. Having arisen at the invigorating hour of three a.m. to reach their destination by eight, the students still were able to listen attentively to the numerous speeches delivered on Rome and Italy, and to enjoy skits presented by various schools throughout the state.

Through the activities of Latin club, its members obtained a better and more comprehensive understanding of Roman life and customs.

Projection Club

The term service club is not misapplied to the group of boys who comprise Projection Club. Frequently these boys give up a lunch hour or a study hall in order that a class may see slides or a movie.

The requirement for this club is that a boy learn how to operate all the different types of equipment. These include 16mm projectors, 35mm slide projectors and film strip projectors, opaque machines, tape recorders, phonographs, and radios.

The duties for members are taking the equipment to individual classrooms and to teachers on request and operating such machines. The member must also learn to make minor repairs and adjustments on the equipment.

The benefits to the members are learning the operation of a variety of useful machines, receiving credit for such work, and serving their school well.

With the incoming importance in Horace Mann of visual-aids, such a service club is indispensable to faculty and students.

Electron Club

Service is a quality which has always been greatly valued at Horace Mann. No matter how the school may change and grow in this new decade, or in what new directions it may travel, this tradition of service—service to others, service to the school, and service to the community—will remain. Electron Club, like many other Horace Mann organizations, has service as its primary reason for existence.

The group, sponsored by Mr. Valenti, has been responsible for the lighting effects at most of the school functions. Its members are the people who stayed after school on Fridays and worked hard hanging the multicolored revolving lights from the gym balcony. In addition to decorating for dances the organization arranged the backdrops, torches, and spotlights which were used during the honor society inductions.

Besides lighting effects, the group is likewise interested in radio communications. Many of the members have "ham" radio licenses; some even own their own special short-wave radio equipment. The members often congregate at the homes of the lucky radio owners to tap the air waves during all hours of the day and night. Most of the younger members are now studying Morse Code so they too can earn the right to use the radio sets. If you hear a strange tapping sound in study hall or while classes are in session, it isn't a woodpecker, just an Electron member doing his homework.

Service is talked about and admired, but too often those who provide it are the "forgotten men" of Horace Mann. Electron Club, however, deserves to be remembered and praised as an organization that is truly serving the school.

Patrol Boys

The Patrol Boys were organized this year to promote the safety of the student body. After a study of traffic in the area, it was decided to reduce the number of pedestrian crossings from five to three on Garfield and Cleveland streets. These crossings were closely guarded and patrolled, and the students and faculty were encouraged not to jaywalk.

During the year the group had a number of meetings with their sponsor, Coach Hobbs, where procedures and problems were discussed and where they saw films and heard lectures on first aid and accidents.

As a result of their efforts Mann has had no traffic accidents this year, and the school was presented with a safety award from the Chicago Motor Bureau, which had helped to promote this project.

Annual Staff

After school, room 308 and the adjacent area present, to the casual observer, a scene of utter chaos. Such, however, is not the case! In reality, it is an organized pandemonium. A glance through the doorway of the aforementioned room would reveal approximately twenty-one students busying themselves at such occupations as drawing, creating layouts, tearing hair, writing, getting writer's cramp, cutting pictures, taking pictures (sometimes in triple exposure), racking brains, losing papers (and sometimes minds), and being co-operative with each other's projects in the most grudging way possible. Added to these occupations, Annual Staff members spend much time selling annuals to fellow students, dreaming up money-making projects to lower the price of the annuals, and balancing (?) budgets. These various activities eventually lead to the production of the "Horace Manual."

Debate Club

First Affirmative Speaker: We are very happy to be here today debating this very important and timely topic: Resolved that Horace Mann has a very active Debate Club. I shall prove that the HM chapter of the National Forensic League has participated in the three major areas of forensics—debate, speech, and student congress—and has earned an admirable record.

The HM varsity squad, composed of Karen Baker, Garry Gardner, Dean Kukral, Susan Miller, Mike Miselman, and Joe Stiglitz, debated the topic: Resolved that the Federal Government should substantially increase its regulation of labor unions. In the first meet of the season at LaPorte, HM won second place in the varsity division. The team again placed second at the annual Hammond High tourney. The new year began with a Chicago area competition at Navy Pier on January 9th. Here HM came through in third place. The most intensive debating competition began in February with the Metropolitan Debate League tournaments. Although HM didn't take top honors in the meets, Mike and Sue temporarily got swelled heads after beating the supposedly invincible New Trier team. The HM team ended the year in a blaze of glory by sweeping through the Indiana High School Forensic Association District Contest in first place and getting a second in the zone meet, thereby becoming the first HM team to earn a chance to compete in the state finals since 1956.

Although the Horace Mann club concentrated on debate this year there was some participation in the speech meets throughout the state. Many of the students went to contests at Peru, Howe Military Academy, and Hammond. In the IHSFA District Speech Meet on March 8 and 16, Karen Baker was first in girls' extemporaneous speaking, and Gail Levin was fourth in the same category. Garry Gardner placed first in boys' extemp; Allan Korn was third in discussion; Sharon Repking was third in dramatic reading and first in poetry; and Kathy Kosinski was third in oratorical declamation. Allan Korn also placed third in the zone meet so he advanced to state finals. In the National Forensic League State Finals, Joe Stiglitz won a second place ribbon in boys' extemp, and Sue Miller placed fourth in girls' extemp.

There have been three student congresses in Indiana this year. In the first one at Purdue, Karen Baker and Dean Kukral received special commendation. At Columbia City, a bill submitted by Joe to nationalize the railroads was defeated. Sue had better luck in Indianapolis when her education bill passed in the Senate.

This year HM's debate team became active in the general community by giving demonstration debates for the Rotary Club, Lions' Club, Chamber of Commerce, and many other organizations.

In view of the extensive evidence which we, the affirmative, have presented here, we ask you to concur with us and accept our resolution.

First Negative Speaker: We concede ! ! !

Speech Club

Leader: For what noble reasons

Have we worked these past three seasons.

Chorus: To learn to speak correctly

And come to the point directly.

These words aptly express the aim of Horace Mann's speech club. To achieve this goal, speech club members participated in a number of interscholastic contests during the year, including those sponsored by Rotary Club and the Junior Chamber of Commerce. The group also wrote and produced a puppet show, "Deep in a Dingle Dell." This program was presented before various organizations throughout the city.

In addition to these activities, speech club was in charge of three major productions. They were once again responsible for the staging and producing of the Christmas Pageant. As a part of the thirteenth annual "Talent Parade," which was directed by the organization for the third consecutive year, they presented the thoroughly entertaining "Sheik of Araby."

The third program of which speech club was in charge was the Sophomore Play, "Come Rain or Shine." Tessie George and Judy Hoover were the student directors while other members of the group headed the scenery, make-up, staging, and lighting crews.

As its final activity, the club recited "The Will to Work" at the graduation exercises.

Their busy year was concluded with a dinner at the home of Frumeth Hirsh, where eighteen new members were inducted, and the year's activities were reviewed. The club had successfully promoted interest in speech and speech activities at HM during 1959-1960.

1959-60 with the Band

Lights gleam through the windows of the bandhouse, and the clatter of instruments mingles with the chatter of majorettes and guidons. Other band members are tuning up their instruments. This is the usual activity preceding a band rehearsal. There is always a following of parents, little children, and fellow students lining the sidewalks in anticipation of the nightly practice march around the school area.

After a great many practice marches, and a great many rehearsals, the band made its first appearance of the season at the LaGrange, Illinois, Pet Parade, which was nationally televised. This appearance was only the beginning of a series of performances around the country which included such highlights as the Blue Island Lions Parade, Harvey, Illinois, Fourth of July Parade, the Rossville, Illinois, Centennial Celebration, Midwestern Band Tournament at Riverview, Miss Indiana Day at Michigan City, a parade at Oak Lawn, the Lake County Fair at Gary, and the Chicago Cardinal Pro Game.

The Horace Mann band is so much in demand that many invitations to perform must be turned down. When the band does accept an invitation, it is invariably treated royally by the parade sponsors. Many times the band members are treated to dinners. In such cases as the performance at Riverview, they are even given free passes to the rides.

Band members must spend a huge amount of time to keep the outstanding reputation it has attained over the years. Summertime is not playtime for band members. Performances are given all summer at various events. The highlight of the summer season is the Band Extravaganza at the Memorial Auditorium.

Program Notes

The main feature of this year's orchestra schedule is a tone-poem entitled "The Seventh Annual Spring Concert." This work, conducted by Howard Ramsey, who is replacing Mr. Michael Horbovetz during the latter's illness, was played on April 21 in the Horace Mann Auditorium. The tonal structure of the piece ranges from the soaring strains of Mozart's "Magic Flute" to the semi-classical lilt of the "Music Man" to the novelty style of Leroy Anderson's "Tickled Pink." Highlighting the selection are solos by Dale Hennon, the orchestra's concertmaster, and Estrellita Resur, the first flutist.

The orchestra's ability to play interlude music is well-demonstrated in the next number which is called "Accompaniment." This suite is divided into three major sections. The first is "The Senior Play," when the orchestra provided background music. The second refers to the musical sections of both honor society inductions. The final phase is "Commencement."

A concerto, "Individual Participation," will be played by various groups in the orchestra. Movement I displays the musicianship of the many orchestra members who participated in the regional music contests at Lew Wallace and Portage and the state contest in Indianapolis. The second movement of the concerto is played by the principals of each instrumental section who are eligible to participate in the All-City Orchestra concert on May 4, 1960. The final movement is performed by the four members of the HM organization who are also members of the Gary Symphony Orchestra.

The final selection, "Awards," is played by the three 1959-1960 trophy winners of the HM orchestra: Tom Heavyside, the winner of the "Musician" award; Dale Hennon, the "Outstanding Member;" and Estrellita Resur, recipient of the "Achievement" trophy.

Mann - U - Script

Copy Boy! This cry sends the Mann-U-Script staff into a frenzy to beat the news deadline. Reporters Dale Hennon, Carl Shafer, Bud Levenberg, Pat Lazar, Lynn Starr, Carol U'Halie, Jeanne Petrosus, Sandi Sherman, and Barb Cederoth hurriedly collect their notes and begin to rewrite their stories. Copy Editor Dave Monohan scans these stories for grammatical and factual errors. The head writers then fit the stories to available column space. The late stories are prodded from the staff by Leanore Schwerin, the managing editor. Editor-in-Chief Bob Sanderson oversees the entire operation.

Distribution of the paper, which comes out every other Thursday, is under the direction of Mike Miselman, the business manager. Mike directs the selling of yearly, semester, and out-of-school subscriptions. Sales of single copies—a new direction this year—have been successful. After Thursday the staff can relax—at least until Friday.

M-U-S has other activities besides putting out the paper on alternate Thursdays. It also handles the business and publicity angles of the Talent Parade, which is put on by the Speech Department. The M-U-S is a member of the National Scholastic Press Association which honors its outstanding individual reporters with membership in the Quill and Scroll honorary. The year's hard work is climaxed by an exhaustive tryout period of prospective newshounds. A breakfast to honor departing seniors ends a year of work for the M-U-S members.

Booster Club

Dear Incoming Booster Club Member,

Well, it sure has been a busy year. I didn't realize all that Booster Club does for the school until I became a member. It all started with the first meeting, when various jobs were assigned. Kay Zimmerman was given the job of inserting notices in the bulletin, Bunny Goins was assigned the task of writing the excuse lists for all the pep meetings, and Sandra Matfiak was put in charge of the scrapbook, in which we place all the news about the organization.

One of the busiest times this year was Homecoming, for which we sold mums, "Horsemen" tags, buttons, etc. My! When I came down the hall, everyone would run for fear that I would try to sell them something!

We designed and drew all of the figures and decorations for the "Senior Kings and Queens Dance". I must admit that some of the figures didn't resemble people, but we did try. That dance was fun to take charge of. It's a highlight of every senior's year.

For the All-Sports Banquet, the decorations consisted of footballs, basketballs, tennis racquets, and golf clubs, so at least we had models to copy that time. Golly, you really have to be an artist to be able to design and make all those decorations! After all our struggles it was gratifying to hear people admiring our creations.

When the Who's Who Dinner came around, our artistic ability wasn't called upon, because Social Committee was in charge of the decorations. We did become cooks. Oh, yes, indeed, we prepared everything but the ham. After the dinner we were pronounced "Washers of the Dishes." You must know how well all enjoyed that honor.

Another part of being a member, the part that I enjoyed the most this year, was setting up the pep meetings. The cheering sessions do so much for the morale of the team that it feels great to have had a share in planning them.

After our banquet, which was held at Phil Schmidt's Restaurant (where we all ate until we were stuffed), I thought there wouldn't be much more to do, but then we had to arrange cheerleading tryouts for May 9th and 17th. As always, we were proud of the girls who were chosen.

Now you see what Booster Club members do. I hope you will be a good one. I have to go and do my homework now before I start feeling like going to the beach.

Best of luck,
A Senior Booster Club Member

Social Committee

Taken from the Minutes of Social Committee:

September, 1959

The regular meeting of Social Committee was called to order by the President, Judy Vance. Secretary Lynne Konrady called roll, and Tony Lazar, the Treasurer, reported the balance in the treasury.

Judy checked on the number of Horace Mann combs which the club had sold. All the money was turned in to Tony.

October, 1959

Martha Couredis, Vice President, reported on rose day. It was finally decided that the Seniors would wear white roses; the Juniors red, the Sophomores pink; and the Freshman, yellow. Judging from the confusion in the library first hour, it was estimated that every girl had purchased a rose.

November, 1959

Petitions for the dances of this month were checked, voted upon, and passed. We apportioned money to pay for the repair of the record player.

December, 1959

Our Social Committee Christmas breakfast was held the Friday before the Christmas vacation. All of the Club brought food. We wrapped the presents for the teachers.

The breakfast was quite a change from our regular meeting.

Miss Czarnecki should be thanked for putting up with all the noise in the library.

January-February, 1960

The club changed the dates for the dances after the basketball games because of a change in the schedule. The petition for the Kings and Queens Dance after the Senior Play was passed.

March, 1960

The various reports on the Who's Who Dinner were given. Social Committee and Booster Club will combine for this activity. The general theme for the dinner was "Fantasy in Faces." Barbara Bills gave a report on the decorations which consisted of paper mache-masks of fantasy figures, such as Alice in Wonderland and Peter Pan.

The entertainment committee gave a report on entertainment for the dinner. The "Debs" sang and Jerry Karski played the accordion.

The two clubs shared the cost of the dinner, and each brought part of the food.

May, 1960

As the final activity of the year, we scheduled our banquet at San Remo's. Everyone met at school for rides.

Carl Shafer moved the meeting be adjourned. The meeting was dismissed.

Respectfully submitted,
Social Committee

Girls' Club

Welcome to the Girls' Club Style Show of 1959-1960. The fashions that you will see today are designed with the high school girl in mind. Styles are varied to meet the needs of the Horace Mann girl as she goes through her round of activities.

Looking very sweet is Barbara Henderson in the outfit that she wore to the first affair given by Girls' Club—the Big Sister-Little Sister mixer. This social provided a welcome for the newcomer to HM—both Freshman and upperclassmen. Nancy Beshore, the mistress of ceremonies for the event, introduced the various skits given by the members of Girls' Club Board and Council. There were four acts presented, one by each of the classes. Everyone enjoyed the program which was completely written and produced by the members of the organization. All the girls looked much like autumn in their fall colors as they sat around the gym, munching cookies and eating ice cream.

Suits and heels were featured by the girls who attended the tea given by Lew Wallace in the fall. Interesting entertainment was provided: a hairdresser styled different girls' hair and taught them how to care for their new hairdos. Club members were very impressed with the program, the school, and the refreshments that were served.

Next, we see Betty Brennan in a matching skirt and sweater which she wore to the favor-making party before Thanksgiving. Many of the HM girls turned out to help make tray mats for the children who would be in the hospital during the holidays.

Here is Shirley Erickson, looking Christmasy in the dress she wore to the tea given for the teachers. Highlighting the affair were Christmas carols sung by a group of men on the faculty. After the program the girls chatted with the teachers and enjoyed punch and cake.

"Strictly for Girls" was not the motto of the Girls' Club Turnabout, Jody Blanning proves this as she models the semi-formal that she wore to the dance whose actual theme was "Mardi Gras." The Turnabout, which is one of main activities sponsored by the organization marks the climax of "TWIRP Week." New directions for TWIRP Week included "Black Monday" and "Loyalty Day" (red and white day).

Both the Lake County and Chicago Suburban Conferences were attended by representatives of Girls' Club. Judy McNamar models a suit that she wore to the Lake County Conference, and Barbara Henderson is displaying the dress in which she attended the Chicago Suburban Conference.

Lynne Konrady, introduced by Carol Sue Preston, who looks lovely in her walking suit, now models one of the outfits she wore in the style show in April. Lynne was just one of the HM girls who showed us her flair for fashion.

We now see Kathleen Comerford in the sheath dress that she wore to the Girls Club Potluck. Kathleen and all of the Board and Council members proved their domesticity by bringing the food for the dinner.

Well, now you have seen the fashions and some of the girls who have worked so hard this year to make Girls' Club even better than ever. We hope you have enjoyed the show.

Sportseaster: Good afternoon, friends, this is your favorite sportseaster, Mack Trickhouse, all ready to give you the latest news in sports, as prepared by the HMHS news room.

Highlighting the news is that fantastic organization, the Horace Mann Girls' Athletic Association, which has just made the headlines by being elected one of the best girls' athletic organizations in Gary. How did they win this honor? According to Nadene Kuruzovich, their president, it just took hard work. These qualities were well-demonstrated when the group handled all the individual pictures for the senior high school in October.

Let me give you a brief run down of the club's sports schedule. There are four sports in which tournaments are held—basketball, volleyball, wallball, and bowling. This season the basketball championship was won by the senior girls' team. Winnie Hogg led her wallball squad on to victory, and Nadene's bowling team took top honors in that contest.

Some of the members played tennis, but this is not a tournament sport. Swimming is also included in the program. Besides the team trophies which are awarded to the conquering heroines, individual members receive points for participation in all sports areas. The girls with the most points at the end of the year receive special recognition.

HM joined forces with Lew Wallace to present a water show on March 23, 24, and 25. The production, "Rhapsody in Rhythm," featured ten boys and thirty-five girls who dived and did synchronized swimming to such tunes as "Blue Tango," "Dancing in the Dark," and "Harbor Lights." The grand finale, "Battle Hymn of the Republic," was a stirring sight. After the lights were turned out, two lines of girls swam across the pool with burning candles and placed them in a floating cross. As the final "Amen" was sung, the girls extinguished the fires with their hands and the room was left in total darkness while the last strains of music died away.

Of course, girls will be girls, and occasionally training is broken for social activities. At a banquet on November 4th, the new members were inducted. The manager of the Ambassador Bowling Lanes tempted the girls from their diets for a Christmas Party. Another holiday affair was a dance and dinner given at the V.F.W. hall. Lew Wallace GAA members were invited to attend this affair.

All these activities are expensive so the club engaged in various money-making projects. Almost every month it held a dance for grade school pupils. In November the girls also sold candy to raise extra funds. Part of these earnings were spent for charitable purposes. At Thanksgiving and Christmas needy families were presented with baskets of food.

A weekend campout at Camp Tepicon, an annual event for the group, in which Lew Wallace also participated, completed the year for GAA. During this weekend of May 20-22, the girls enjoyed hiking, campfires, and other outdoor activities. At a banquet on Saturday evening the awards for the year were presented, and the new officers were announced. This dinner marks the official end of the GAA yearly activities.

You have just heard the story of the award-winning Horace Mann-GAA, as presented by the HMHS news service. I shall now return you to your favorite disk jockey, Moward Hiller.

Football Scrapbook 1959 Season

The highlights of each game

TOLLESTON FIELD—Sept. 11, 1959 (HM News Service) The fighting Horsemen successfully opened their season tonight with a slim 26-13 victory over the Blazers of Edison. The forward line, led by Brian Evans and Randy Pawlicki, kept the Edison offense in check. The Mann backfield lacked speed but made up for it in determination and driving power.

GILROY STADIUM—Sept. 18, 1959 (HM News Service) In its first conference game of the year, Horace Mann was edged out by Gary-Lew Wallace. A fumble in the first quarter made possible an early Hornet touchdown. HM struck back and scored, but missed the extra point attempt. The game see-sawed back and forth until the final minutes when HM tried a desperate fourth-down play which failed. Lew Wallace then scored the final touchdown, and the game ended 13-6 in their favor.

EXTRA—Valparaiso, Ind., Sept. 25, 1959 (HM News) The Horsemen of Gary-Mann defeated Valpo today 32-7. The five HM touchdowns in this game were made by Art LaFleur, Jim Dimitri, Ken Isley, Dave Duncan, and Dan Toomey. The Mann team fought hard during the second half to revenge the injuries of Ken Isley and Chuck Sweeney.

TOLLESTON FIELD—Oct. 2, 1959 (HM News) In spite of the fact that four regular players were on the side lines because of injuries, the Mann eleven earned a 26-13 victory over the Blue Raiders of Tolleston. Long runs by Tony Lazar and Jim Dimitri, as well as the rugged line play of Bob Bardos, contributed to HM's second straight conference victory.

SPECIAL—Tolleston Field, Oct. 8, 1959 (HM News Service) The loss to East Chicago Washington, the number two team in the state, killed all chances of an HM conference championship. But it was an exciting game because the expert running of Dave Duncan and the bruising tackling of Art LaFleur kept Mann very much in the contest until the final quarter. The score: E. C. 26-HM 13.

SPORTS FEATURE—Gilroy Stadium, Oct. 25, 1959 (HM News) The Horsemen were eliminated from the chance of winning a second city championship. A 26-7 defeat at the hands of Gary-Roosevelt dashed their hopes. Superior speed by the Panther backs made the game a one-sided affair. The pass defense of Mann was very weak.

BULLETIN—Gilroy Stadium, Nov. 1, 1959 (HM News Service) With Bernie Zapp's and John Ellisthorp's inspired line play, plus Chuck Sweeney's and David Duncan's display of driving power, the Horace Mann football team gained a victory over the Emerson Tornadoes by the score of 26-13. The field, muddy and slippery, hampered the Mann offensive machine.

FLASH—Tolleston Field, Nov. 8, 1959 (HM News) Today the Mann men soundly defeated the Blue Devils of Froebel. They also successfully defeated Tom Harmon's scoring record by holding J. D. Smith scoreless. Ken Isley scored three touchdowns to lead HM to a 21-0 victory. Phil Brown, with his brother Tim, did a very good job in HM's final conference victory.

FINAL EDITION—Gilroy Stadium, Nov. 13, 1959 (HM News) In their final appearance of the season, the Horsemen massacred the Portage Indians with a victory score of 35-0. This victory was sweet revenge for the whole team.

Basketball

Statement: The Horace Mann basketball team won five games in the regular season and two games in the sectionals, losing only the final championship playoff.

Procedure: 1. Horace Mann started the season by winning two out of the first four contests. It won the games against Crown Point and Gary-Edison rather easily, but lost to La Porte and East Chicago-Washington by relatively close scores.

2. Disaster then struck the team, for the boys lost eleven games in a row. In order to promote new spirit in the team, Coach Hobbs shifted players and added new material from the reserves.

3. Toward the end of the season Mann showed more confidence and poise. With these additional attributes, HM beat Emerson, Calumet, and Portage. The squad lost to East Chicago Roosevelt in an exciting game, decided only in the closing quarter.

4. In the Gary sectionals, Mann pulled the upset of the

Almanac of Track Season

Cross-Country and Track Weather Report

Report on first half of season—There was a fair climate over the HM cross-country field in the first half of the year. The Mann distance runners posted a very respectable score board of seven victories and three defeats. In the opening days the weather was mixed with a HM conquest over Tolleston, 29-32, and a defeat by Valpo, 29-25.

Fair weather began when HM beat Emerson 26-32, and Froebel 26-35. The sun shone as HM triumphed over Hammond 31-39, Whiting 45-33, Clark 35-25, and E. C. Roosevelt 35-26.

Rain clouds appeared on the horizon when Coach Kominski's boys lost to Wallace 25-29 and E.C. Washington 32-28.

Report on the second half of the season—The last half of the year brought near perfect weather to the HM track. In individual meets HM won seven contests and only lost one.

Additional sunny weather resulted after victories over Edison, Whiting, Hammond-Morton, Portage, Wallace, Bishop Noll, and Wirt. The only rainy day was when HM was defeated by E.C. Roosevelt during Easter Vacation.

The team earned a very respectable fourth in the city meet and a sixth in the conference contest. The outlook for the remainder of the season was uncertain when the Annual went to press.

Baseball Horace-scope

Horace Mann—Born this year, the team of 1959-1960 will have a good season. Its lucky number will be nine. The combination of seasoned and unseasoned players will prove successful.

The "Horace-Scope" proved to be true for 1960 as the team went through a 5-3-1 season. The HM nine clicked time and time again, and proved itself a fine ball club. The combination of lettermen and non-lettermen scored a total of fifty runs compared to their opponents' twenty-seven.

The nine has not been composed of the same people every game. At first base is Lee Kopulos, and at second is either Ed Koehler or Bill Nurse. Al Fesus and Tony Lazar take turns covering third base while Jerry Wilson plays the short stop position. In the field are Bernie Zapp, Randy Pawlicki, Davis Blaine, and Norman Davis. The pitchers are Bob Hipkind and Jerry Flynn, and the catchers are Tom Billie and Jim Dimitri.

BASEBALL TEAM

The season's record as of May 1st is:

HM 6—Portage 3	HM 15—Wirt 1
HM 0—La Porte 9	HM 8—Tolleston 1
HM 9—La Porte 4	HM 6—Edison 3
HM 3—Chesterton 4	HM 4—Emerson 3

As we go to press the predictions of the stars are still uncertain concerning the outcome of the remaining games of the season.

ACE—a hole in one—the best possible shot.

Horace Mann's outstanding showing this year was a 14-1 victory over Calumet in the opening meet.

BIRDIE—taking less shots than the specified number.

In its second season the golf team has already bettered its 1959 record. Mann has beaten Hammond-Technical 10.5-4.5, Highland 10.5-4.5, and E.C. Washington 11.5-3.5.

BOGEY—shooting more than the expected shots.

Horace Mann has lost five games this season. The team lost to Clark, Dyer-Central, and Valpo by the score 6-9. They also were defeated by Hammond High 1.5-13.5 and by Lew Wallace 2.5-12.5.

GOLF COURSE—playing area especially designed for the game of golf.

While playing against various schools, the golf team has toured some of the better courses in the area. Its home course is Indian Ridge, but the squad has played at Gleason Park, Turkey Creek, Cressmoor, and many other courses.

Act I—In its first year at Horace Mann, the tennis team made an impressive record with five victories and only two defeats. The squad won its first three matches by outscoring E.C. Roosevelt and Hammond Tech. with the identical scores of 4-1. They acquired another win when Emerson forfeited.

Act II—In the second act the Mann team did not give as brilliant a performance. It lost to Hammond-Clarke 3-2, and to Hammond High 4-1. In conference matches the group beat E.C. Washington 5-0 and Tolleston 4-1. By defeating all city foes, HM won the city championship.

the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are aged 65 and over has increased by 1.5 million (1990–1999) (Office of National Statistics 2000).

There is a growing awareness of the need to address the needs of older people in the community. The Department of Health (1999) has published a strategy for older people, which sets out the government's commitment to older people and the actions that will be taken to improve their lives. The strategy is based on the following principles:

- Older people should be able to live independently and actively in the community.
- Older people should be able to access the services and facilities they need to live well.
- Older people should be able to participate in the decisions that affect their lives.
- Older people should be able to live in a safe and secure environment.

The strategy is a key document in the development of policies and services for older people in the UK.

The purpose of this paper is to review the current state of research on the needs of older people in the community.

The paper is organized as follows. First, we discuss the current state of research on the needs of older people in the community.

Second, we discuss the implications of this research for policy and practice.

Third, we discuss the challenges facing researchers in this area.

Finally, we discuss the future of research on the needs of older people in the community.

1. Introduction

The number of people in the UK who are aged 65 and over has increased by 1.5 million (1990–1999) (Office of National Statistics 2000).

There is a growing awareness of the need to address the needs of older people in the community.

The Department of Health (1999) has published a strategy for older people, which sets out the government's commitment to older people and the actions that will be taken to improve their lives.

The strategy is based on the following principles:

- Older people should be able to live independently and actively in the community.
- Older people should be able to access the services and facilities they need to live well.
- Older people should be able to participate in the decisions that affect their lives.
- Older people should be able to live in a safe and secure environment.

The strategy is a key document in the development of policies and services for older people in the UK.

The purpose of this paper is to review the current state of research on the needs of older people in the community.

The paper is organized as follows. First, we discuss the current state of research on the needs of older people in the community.

The first of these is the fact that the government has been unable to maintain a stable currency. This has led to a loss of confidence in the government and a consequent loss of support from the people. The second is the fact that the government has been unable to maintain a stable economy. This has led to a loss of confidence
 in the government and a
 consequent loss of support from the people. The third is the fact that the government has been unable to maintain a stable society. This has led to a loss of confidence
 in the government and a
 consequent loss of support from the people.

The fourth is the fact that the government has been unable to maintain a stable foreign policy. This has led to a loss of confidence in the government and a consequent loss of support from the people.
